

A z a l e a L a i n e

periwinkle's pale baby sky opened up my eyes
on a crisp, Paris day
riding bikes they fly
not knowing how to bye
the man that was molded out of clay i'm taking the bird's eye but not that high
sitting on my knees to pray

